Animal Hospital of Mebane

WHY CHOOSE AHOM?

When you are looking for the safest environment for a surgical procedure, a hospital is the clear answer. There are key differences in the quality of care your dog will experience at a hospital compared to other spay/neuter options. You can rest assured knowing that pre-anesthetic bloodwork will warn of potential complications. Your dog's vital signs will be monitored by a dedicated technician to ensure everything is going well and an IV catheter is placed to administer rescue medications if a dog has a negative reaction. Lastly, we are dedicated to giving your dog the care and attention they deserve by limiting the number of surgeries we perform each day. Choose quality. Choose safety. Choose AHOM.

INCLUDES

Fluids:

Fluids provide assistance with blood pressure stability and perfusion to organs.

Microchip:

We are proud to insert Save This Life microchips which allow you to google the microchip number to help find a lost pet.

Bloodwork:

Bloodwork helps your vet and staff know what risks are present, what anesthetic drugs to use and/or whether your pet can even safely have surgery.

Pain Medication:

Your dog will receive a non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drug injection prior to surgery to keep them comfortable. You will also receive tablets to take home to keep your dog comfortable as they recover from surgery.
